Radio 4

Listen to the latest news item about healthy eating, and find out what we should and shouldn’t eat.

I have good news for all you chocolate lovers. Recent studies say chocolate is good for you! But how much chocolate should you eat? Well, a maximum of three chocolate bars a month, so not much. Eating twenty chocolate biscuits a day is definitely not a good idea. But remember: chocolate eaters live longer than those who do not eat chocolate.

And the same is true of salt. A study in the United States of America found that people who eat salt live longer.

Another belief from the past is that bread and potatoes make you fat. A new study says, “Eat a lot of bread and potatoes. You’ll lose kilos and get thinner,” Ha! Ha! They don’t know how many potatoes I can eat.

Do you remember when dentists said “Finish meals with fruit?” Well, they now say there is a lot of acid in fruit. It’s bad for your teeth, so don’t eat a lot of fruit.

Finally, they used to say that drinking coffee or tea was very unhealthy, but now some studies have shown that coffee can make you feel good and that it can also make you feel happy. These studies have also shown that tea can help you think. So there’s food for thought! Happy eating!

Muhammad Ali was “The Greatest”. He was the only boxer to become heavyweight champion of the world three times. He was born in 1942 and was called Cassius Clay. He started boxing in 1954. Someone stole his new bicycle and he wanted to hit the boy who stole it, so he went to a gym to learn how to fight. Ali trained six days a week. He could already swim very well. Now he ran, skipped and boxed. He was soon really good at boxing. Clay changed his religion to Islam. He changed his name to Muhammad Ali.

As he got older, Ali became ill. He couldn’t speak very well and move quickly. He was no good at boxing anymore. But he could still help other people to fight for a better world. And after all those years, he still wanted to find and hit the boy who stole his bike. “That was a good bike,” he said.
