

Ethics Learning Outcomes for Year 4

Outcomes		Outcome Descriptors
		Outcome has started to be achieved	Outcome has been partially achieved	Outcome has been satisfactorily achieved	Outcome has been fully achieved
1	I can give examples of instances where disadvantage and preferential treatment were shown, and discuss them as issues of justice.
2	I can distinguish between fairness as treating people according to their need, and fairness as treating people equally.
3	I can demonstrate the values of honesty, trust and respect in my relationship with my peers.
4	I can talk about the importance of moral principles to guide my life.
5	I can distinguish between impulsive and reflective acts, and give examples of each.
6	I can list some of the rules that enable a discussion to take place, such as not speaking out of turn, giving space for others to speak, and listening to others without interruption.				