Scary fun ... Coraline. Photograph: Focus/Everett/Rex

Summary:

This enjoyable yet creepy animation fantasy in 3D is written and directed by Henry Selick, the director who is also known for The Nightmare Before Christmas. Based on the original novel written by Neil Gaiman, the film is about Coraline Jones (Dakota Fanning), a bored 13-year-old who is up to no good. She's unpleasant, complains, has an attitude and doesn't make friends easily. Her parents aren't that great either! They're busy, distracted, and always sitting at their computers ignoring Coraline whenever she talks. One day, Coraline decides to explore the new home her parents have rented. There she discovers a secret door behind which she finds a weird world which is very similar to her own. She decides to go on an adventure and discover this new world. Here she meets a family similar to hers but better! She meets her Other Mother (Teri Hatcher) and her Other Father (John Hodgman). At first, it seems much nicer – before its full horror appears! In this dark world, her Other Mother tries to keep her there forever. Coraline must use all her resources and bravery to make it back to her real family and life. Some scary fun!

AUDIENCE REVIEWS FOR CORALINE

★★★★☆ Aug, 30, 2015

The film takes elements from many classic children's tales, about a girl who finds a secret doorway to another world in her new house where a witch tries to capture her and her parents but the brave girl fights back. Great 3D animation and well produced by the director of James and the Giant Peach: this could almost be another Roald Dahl story.

Coraline is a great idea and keeps you watching for the story alone. The animation is superb and intricate.

Interesting story and fabulous animation. Not your usual animated feature – a bit darker and creepier than I expected.

Enjoyed it – not sure how my kids would have felt about it if they had seen it when they were still kids. It's a film for adults rather than children. – Red L
