Hi, Sam. I'm meeting Angela in the city tomorrow. Can you remind me how to get to the market, please?

The Market? Yes, sure. Walk straight along Enrico Mizzi street. There is a doctor's clinic in the right-hand corner before you enter San Frangisk Square. Look right. You should see St Francis Church from where you are. Then, take the third exit and go to Taħt Putirjal street. About 50 metres along the street, there's a bus terminus right next to a car park. You can meet Angela there. I suggest you two go for a walk in a lovely garden called Villa Rundle which can be found behind the car park and opposite Lombard Bank found in Ninu Cremona street. If you don't feel like visiting the garden, keep walking past the bus terminus and the playground along Taħt Putirjal Street. You should see a school opposite the playground. When you get to the police station, turn left into Republika Street. On the left, there is a post office and right opposite you can find the famous Astra theatre. Once there, walk past the post office – for about 50 metres and you should see the open-air market on your left. You can't miss it! Ok?

ABOUT

TRUNews

Do you wonder which European places are best represented on social media? Yep, we do too! Here are the five perfect places in Europe for social media photos.

#5 Lake Bled, Slovenia

5 This beautiful blue lake is a popular photo on social media. It looks like it came straight out of a fairy tale. It is surrounded by a huge forest and has an island in the centre topped with a church. You can find a castle on a cliff surrounded by miles of beautiful countryside. The countryside offers a place for hiking and cycling. It has great places for photographers.

#4 The Alps, Switzerland

10 Snow-covered mountains, a milky hot chocolate and a brisk walk in the wintry forests...it doesn't get any better than the Swiss Alps. The best part of the Swiss Alps is the fact that it is a wonderful destination in the winter as it is in the summer. Come in the summer to enjoy the blue skies and beautiful meadows, and come in the winter to get a taste of some of the best skiing and winter scenery the world has to offer. For anyone making a trip around Europe, the Alps are a must-see.

15 #3 Cappadocia, Turkey

When someone mentions Turkey, the first image that comes to many travellers' minds are the hot air balloons. It is one of the only places on earth where you can see so many hot air balloons together over such dramatic scenery. To really get a good photo, head up to the rooftop of the Sultan Cave Suites Hotel where you can get a front-row view of the spectacle 20 while enjoying some local food and getting panoramic views of the city.

#2 Amalfi Coast, Italy

25 The Amalfi Coast needs no introduction. The image of box houses lined along the Italian cliffside is familiar to anyone who follows a travel page or two. This coastline is one of the prettiest coastlines around the world and it's not hard to understand why many go take photos there. Whether you are looking for beautiful architecture, or a swim in the crystal-clear Mediterranean beach, the Amalfi Coast will not disappoint.

#1 Santorini, Greece

It's no surprise that Santorini takes the top spot for most photographed location in Europe. White houses, surrounded by flowers, round roofs set across a fantastic ocean view with a sunset in the background should not be missed. Photos of Santorini are, in fact, the most shared on social media. It is the most photographed location IN THE WORLD, not only in Europe.

There you have the top five photo-perfect places in Europe! We hope that it has given you the inspiration you need for your next photoshoot. We would love to hear from you. Send us your photos and tag a friend and you might be the next winner of an all-inclusive holiday in Greece!
